

Tyree Announces Alliance with Platinum Energy Group and Philips; Increases Energy Efficiency, Reduce Costs with LED Lighting Program

Mt. Laurel, NJ – December 7, 2011 -- Tyree Holdings, Corp., an Amincor, Inc. company, and multi-dimensional petroleum and environmental remediation service company, today announced it has formed a strategic alliance with Platinum Energy Group (PEG) and Philips Lightolier to provide energy efficient, LED lighting solutions to its service station and commercial clients.

The alliance will provide Tyree clients with a comprehensive energy audit, design upgrade and installation plan using innovative, LED technology solutions. The program provides 100% financing for the installation costs and will help Tyree clients to reduce operating costs, consume less energy and replace old, inefficient lighting systems.

“We are proud to work together with PEG and Philips to help our clients reduce their energy consumption and operating costs,” said William Tyree, Vice President of Business Development at Tyree Holdings. “This initiative is a way for our clients to use innovative technology and upgrade to brighter lighting that requires 50-80% less power,” continued Tyree. “With this partnership, our clients are looking at significant operating cost reductions, while shrinking their environmental footprint.”
